DART Residency Testimonial

“My time as a resident with the Unscripted Digital Artist Residency in Twillingate was truly life-changing. I arrived at a pivotal moment in my career, seeking clarity and creative direction, and what I found was a rare and powerful combination of space, inspiration, and community.

The landscape and the people of Twillingate deeply shaped my work, opening new pathways for storytelling and artistic exploration. Through the residency, I was able to take creative risks, experiment with new forms, and present work in ways I had never imagined before.

The impact of that experience continues to resonate in my practice today. My current audiovisual project, PUSH & PULL, is directly inspired by my time there, along with collaborations that have grown from those initial connections.

DART creates the conditions for meaningful artistic transformation—not just during the residency, but long after. It’s an extraordinary opportunity for any artist ready to explore, create, and be changed by the experience.”
